A letter a few weeks ago suggested two names of possible candidates for the Campbell City Council. Are either Dorothy Trevethan or Jeanette Watson interested in running?

Curious

Editor's note: We weren't able to contact former City Clerk Dorothy Trevethan but Jeanette Watson says she was seriously considering running but decided against it for health reasons. She's already taken on the job of Chamber of Commerce president for next year and still heads the city Civic Improvement Commission. She says she plans to limit the bulk of her activities to the Chamber and to the Campbell Historical Museum next year and will not accept another appointment as Civic Improvement chairman.

Just a call to let you know the People's Petition to Control Taxation has made it. We obtained more than the needed 500,000 signatures to place it on the state ballot. In fact, we collected over 1 million. I just want to thank all the people involved. We worked with volunteers.

I notice those (island) areas around the loop streets are still looking pretty bare. When is the city going to fix them? I think it would be a good idea to let some of the school children do the planting for a project. Might save the city some money too.

Green Thumber

Editor's note: There wasn't enough funds left from construction of the north loop street to take care of the landscaping. The city is considering using the $94,700 earmarked for development of a downtown semi-mall for this purpose. No finalized plans have been made, however.

That idea to not let any more businesses into The Factory until the new parking spaces are ready is absurd. If they're talking

Lassegard urged local shoppers to mail their cards and packages early to insure delivery by Christmas.

'Too big in scope'

Save school plan hits a snag

CAMPBELL'S PLAN to use federal funding to turn the old Campbell grammar school into a neighborhood center ran into a giant snag last week.

County officials, who oversee the Housing and Community Development (HUD), program said they don't feel the city's proposal will meet with federal approval and plan to appear at the Dec. 12 city Council session to discuss it further. The meeting starts at 8 p.m. in the Council Chamber, 75 N. Central ave.

Last month city officials unanimously voted to use $400,000 of the estimated $475,000 in HUD funds for the 1978-79 fiscal year to acquire that 7 plus acre site at the corner of Campbell ave. and Winchester. At the last meeting councilmen also indicated they plan to set up a two-member council committee to work with Campbell elementary district officials on the proposal. The school district owns the property.

ACCORDING TO City Manager Bob Stephens, the county feels that project is too big in scope and also considers the $42,000 earmarked for housing assistance from HCD funds next year inadequate.

In the last three years the city has earmerked $141,000 out of HCD funds for a housing rehabilitation program which hopes to serve about 30 families, about half of them headed by senior citizens, are receiving rent subsidies through the Section 8 federal program administered by the County.

Street sweeping

900 petition city council

A LIVELY CITY Council session is expected on Monday, Dec. 12 with three petitions and two appeals due before officials. Sessions start at 8 p.m. in the Council Chamber, 75 N. Central ave.

Close to 900 signatures were obtained on petitions calling for a return to the weekly street sweeping service in Campbell. Proponents of those petitions are scheduled to plead their case in person Monday night.

Also scheduled that night is a report by Public Works Director Joe Elliott on his assessment of the cut-back instituted last April. Residential streets are now swept once every third week.

County Supervisor Rod Diridon has also requested time on the agenda Monday to ask the Council to reconsider an earlier vote in opposition of the consolidation of Sanitary District 4. The county proposed a consolidation of district's 2 and 3 (in San Jose) with the Campbell-area district. Sanitary officials and staff also oppose the merger.

JOHN NEWMAN has filed a protest over plans to annex and rezone 1275 Pollard road. Present plans, which won the nod from planning commissioners, call for constructing 40 townhouses on the site.

A final appeal date has been set for Robert Firato who is contesting denial of his application for a discotheque-coffee house at 476 E. Campbell ave. near downtown. This appeal has been continued several times at the request of Firato's attorney but officials indicated if no one shows up for the scheduled appeal Monday the item will be dropped from future agendas.

Also up for discussion Monday will be:

- A resolution calling for a moritorium on new construction along old Camden ave. (north of the San Tomas expressway) until adequate fire hydrants are installed to serve the area.

A STATUS REPORT on the agreement between adult education and Campbell elementary trustees for the use of Hamilton School. This proposal comes before school officials again at the Dec. 15 meeting but Campbell will have to make commitment to sublet part of the vacant school property before that date. If given council sanction, the city will be moving their Senior Nutrition Site now housed at the Grange Hall on N. First st. to the school site. The Campbell Senior Social Club would also use the building.

- An oral report from Elliott on traffic engineering safety improvements that could be instituted near the San Tomas Aquino road Campbell ave. intersection. That spot has been the site of numerous accidents during the last year.
- A report by the Youth Advisory Commission on the Chamber-sponsored Youth Employment Program and suggestions for possible changes.
- A hearing on the Campbell Municipal Lighting District.
- A Public hearing on plans for a two-story parking structure behind The Factory shopping center.

$30 million

Voters to decide on college bond

Voters in the West Valley College District will be asked to approve $30 million in bonds to finance future construction projects at Mission College, trustees decided last week.

The March 7 election will also include filling a vacancy on the Board of Trustees.

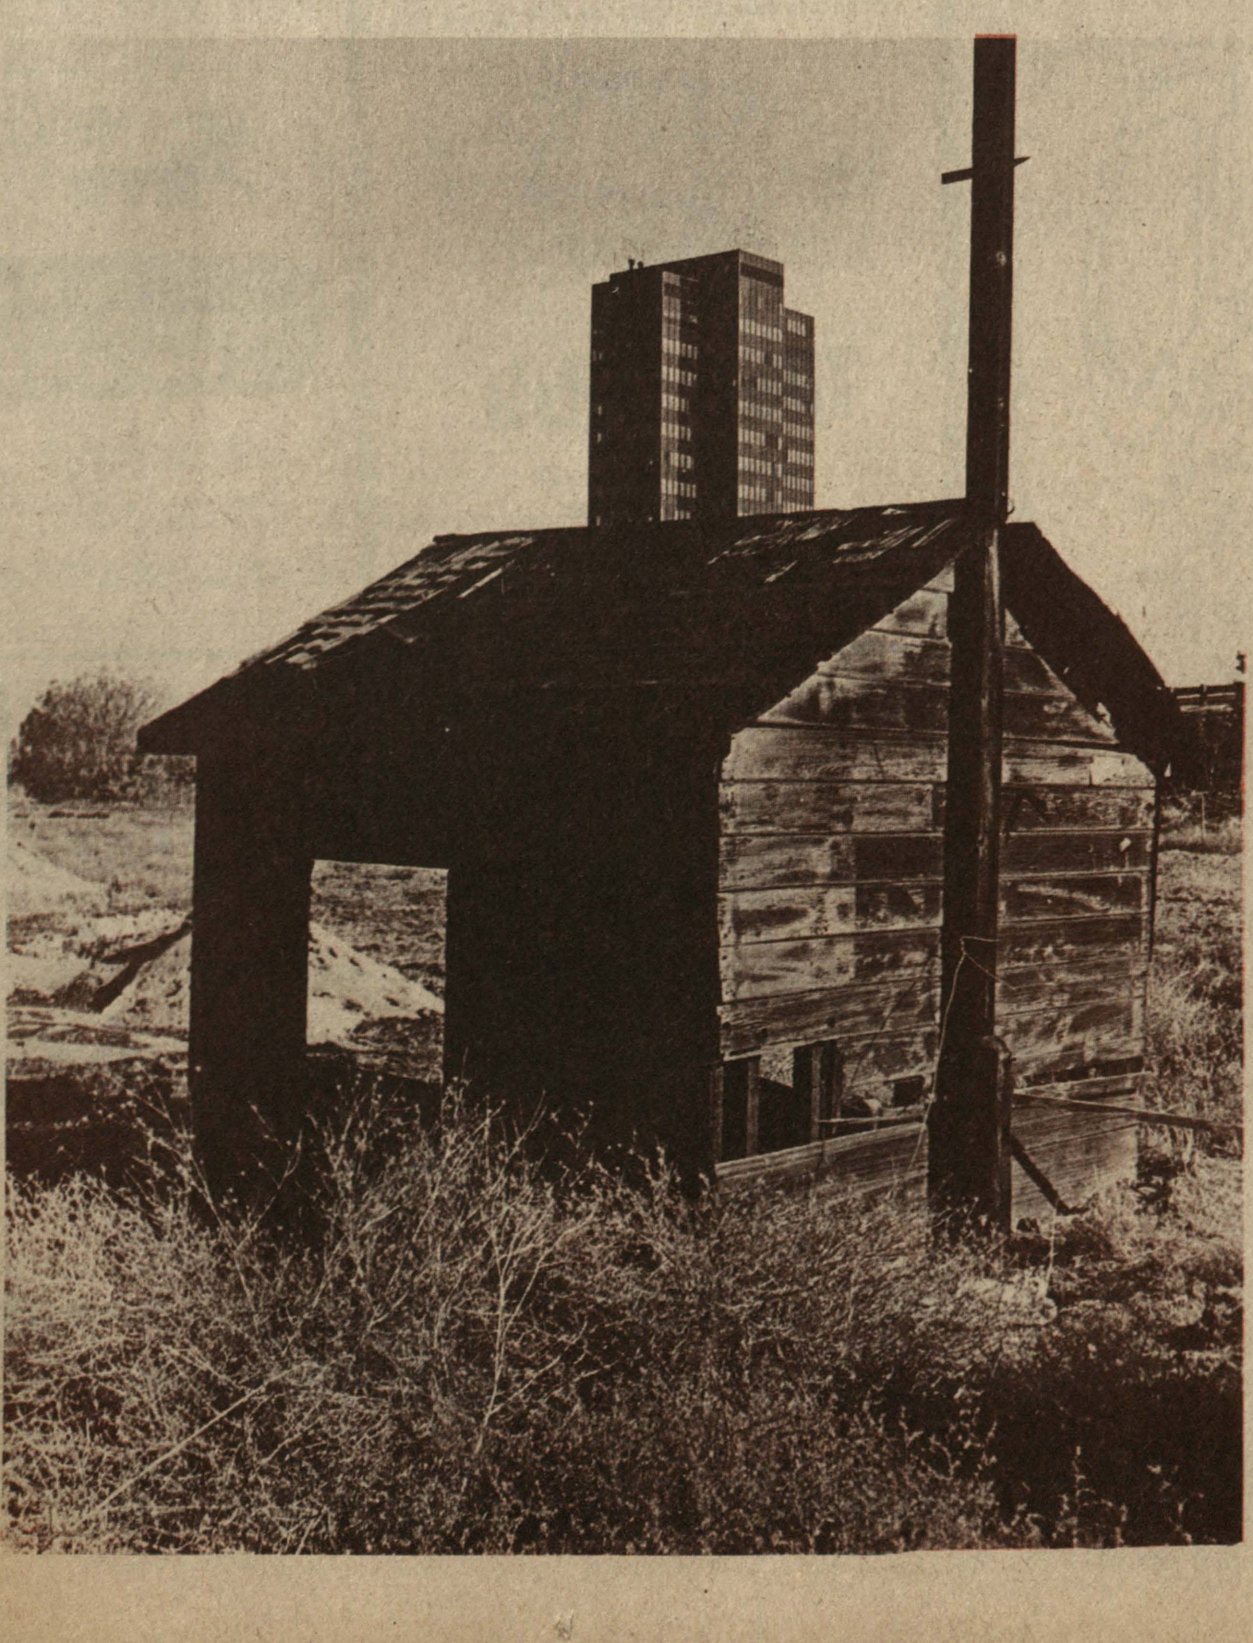
The $30 million is the district's share of construction costs on the Santa Clara campus.

Casting the lone "no" vote last week was Trustee Robert Brydon who declared the figure should have been $40 million which would include completion of physical education facilities at the new campus.

"If you pass bonds for these projects and then come along later and ask for bonds for physical education facilities, you won't ever get them," Brydon argued.

Phase I of the project is now under construction on 160 acres across from Marriott's Great America. An opening date for Mission was originally set for the fall of 1978 but that date may have to be revised. A report from staff is expected in the next few weeks.

In other action the Board asked that the student newspaper print a retraction to an article alledging classroom conditions at West Valley College were overcrowded and unsafe. The staff reported an investigation of these charges by staff, state fire officials and Saratoga city officials did not bear out those allegations.



Making way for progress

A view of the old and the new can be seen along Campbell avenue, near Los Gatos Creek with the old pump house in the foreground and the top nine floors of the Pruneyard Towers touching the sky. That old pump house used to bring water to the orchards which stood on the ground which now sports the shopping center. That was in the days before Campbell's boom in commercial development and before Highway 17 was built. The old shack will be torn down soon to make way for a new 100-unit motel complex.

Willow won't be extended / Opponents of project bat .500

OPPONENTS OF THE 80-acre Ainsley development planned for Hamilton ave., east of Bascom, batted .500 before the San Jose City Council recently. But a spokesman for one of the homeowner's groups opposing that plan said last week this is just the first round in a continuing struggle.

"We're not against the development" Nancy Ianni of the Willow Glen Neighborhood Association explained, "we're just against the emphasis on commercial."

The City Council, on a 3-2 vote, accepted the staff recommendation to allow 24 acres of that parcel of retail and commercial. Earlier, the San Jose Planning Commission had pared that down to 10 acres, plus the two acres now occupied by the old Ainsley home. The homeowner's group supported that Commission recommendation.

A SIMILAR struggle over plans for a major shopping center on that property 15 years ago led to a successful referendum. In 1962 that land was rezoned high density residential. Ianni said last week it's too early to tell if another referendum is called for in the latest proposal.

Another important issue to nearby residents, the extension of Willow street went in their favor. On the recommendation of Campbell elementary school officials, that street will not be extended.

A big factor in the battle against the commercial development is concern over traffic congestion in the Hamilton-Bascom intersection. That spot has been named the "busiest intersection in the county" carrying up to 80,000 cars a day.

Plans for the 24 acres, including 15 of these for general commercial, would create an "enormous traffic problem," Ianni said.

"WE'RE CERTAINLY not against commercial development," she added. "After all, we're living in someone's orchard now. (The Hamilton-Bascom area was once orchard land)." But she, and members of her group feel there should be a need for future shopping centers, Not just for the Ainsley property but throughout the city.

"And with 29 existing shopping centers within 3 miles, we don't feel there's a need," she added.

Round two in the continuing battle will come when the zone change request comes before city planners.

Main jail remodeling approved

County supervisors have approved a construction contract which will result in remodeling of the main jail facility to better accommodate mentally-ill prisoners and juveniles.

R.C. Benson Construction Co. received a contract at $360,000 for the jail project which was almost $130,000 over architect's estimates.

The Benson firm was awarded a contract on the project utilizing federal Economic Development Administration funds because EDA officials in the Seattle regional headquarters believed it would be better to pay extra than go through a re-bidding process.

EDA officials were impressed the Benson construction firm has 54 per cent minority representation in its work force and favored going ahead with the project rather than trying for new and lower bids.

Incumbants seek reelection to council

THE FILING date for the March 7 municipal election in Campbell opened today and already there are two candidates for the two City Council seats.

Incumbents Ralph Doetsch and Bill Podgorsek have both announced they plan to seek reelection. Doetsch will be seeking an unprecedented fifth four-year term on the Council while Podgorsek is going for his third term. Also up for election will be the City Clerk and City Treasurer posts. Clerk Phyllis Acker and Treasurer Nadine Sargent have announced they'll be running.

In statements released by the two incumbents recently, the drive to acquire the old Campbell Grammar School for use as a neighborhood center was the central theme.

"I AM LOOKING forward to working cooperatively with the grammar school district Board of Trustees with the goal of bringing to the people of Campbell their wishes for the preservation of the old Campbell Grammar School site for a community center," Podgorsek said.

Doetsch also favors the project and has an idea about what to do if federal Housing and Community Development funding isn't possible. He called for having the city make an appraisal of the property and determine how much it would cost to bring the building up to earthquake standards.

"Then," Doetsch added, "it should be put on the ballot and let the people decide."

Podgorsek, 48, was first elected to the City Council in 1970. He and his wife, Arlene, are the parents of a son and a daughter. The councilman, who is serving as mayor this year, is the owner of Spartan Printing in San Jose.

"Since entering Campbell city government in 1968 (parks commission) and on the Council since 1970," Podgorsek said, "I feel that I have been responsive to the voters and residents of our beautiful city. In fact, I claim to be the 'people's councilman' as my past record will show."

DOETSCH, 64, was elected in 1962 as a write-in candidate. He and his wife, Lorraine, are the parents of four boys and a girl and the grandparents of two. The former orchardist is now a property owner and manager.

"There are many important projects the City Council has started and I would like to be a part of the completion of them," Doetsch said. "One of my top priorities has and will continue to maintain a high level of city services to the citizens of Campbell."

Prospective candidates, interested in any of the four offices up for election in March, can obtain an information packet by contacting the City Clerk's office at 378-8141 weekdays or visiting City Hall, 75 N. Central ave.

Sales tax issue could effect local taxpayers

Campbell could be considering joining forces with Cupertino in the future over the sales tax issue, Mayor Bill Podgorsek said last week.

Santa Clara recently voted to end a long standing agreement with the county which allows the county to receive 10 per cent of the city's sales tax revenues.

A side issue in that dispute is Santa Clara's "double taxation" for dispatching services, a problem shared by Campbell and Sunnyvale. These cities operate their own emergency dispatching systems, supported by local taxpayers, who also pay taxes to fund the county dispatch services offered free to several other cities, including San Jose.

If the Santa Clara decision to sever that 21-year sales tax agreement with the county goes forward it will take effect in April of 1978. And it could, many observers say mean other cities in the county will be unable to collect their sales taxes through the state. In Campbell's case that's a little over $2 million yearly.

Those sales tax funds collected by the county are used to finance bond redemption for such county facilities as the County Government Building, court houses and other county buildings. Campbell's share of that income was about $200,000 last year.

The sales tax issue was first raised by Santa Clara in 1975 and at that time a compromise was worked out. The county agreed to put a ceiling on the total revenue received, limiting it to the amount collected in the 1975-76 fiscal year. Over the last two years Campbell, for instance, has received about $30,000 in additional sales tax funds through that agreement.

In addition to the agreement, the county set up a Urban Services Committee to look into services provided by the County to the cities in general and some of the cities complaints in particular. After about a year of meeting that committee disbanded.

According to Councilman Rusty Hammer, Campbell committee representative, the group stopped their studies when cities lost interest.

A year end report from Goodwill

EDITOR:

As the year draws to a close, we at Goodwill Industries of Santa Clara County would like to take this opportunity to publicly thank the community for their assistance and support.

Goodwill of Santa Clara County is a non-profit organization whose primary goals are to train handicapped and disadvantaged people and place them in jobs with business and industry. Many members of the community are familiar with our used goods division and our big, blue trucks but few realize the diversity of our operation and the various ways we are able to help people. Much of that help is available through our vocational training school.

Nineteen seventy-seven has been a good year for Goodwill and we would like to share a few of our successes.

In the field of rehabilitation, we have expanded our electronic assembly training to include an electronic technician's course. We have established an innovative career evaluation program which is available to outside agencies. Our training course in Business and Office Occupations was nominated as an exemplary program by the State Department of Education. We have added new counselors to work with students and client-workers. We are beginning to open new avenues with special equipment for the deaf. A cafeteria, to be operated by a blind manager, is currently under construction and we will be adding food services to our training programs. Job placement has been extremely successful. Two hundred and seventy Goodwill graduates have been placed in industry so far this year.

We are growing in other areas. Used goods has always been a strong source of funds for us, but this year donations of used goods have been even higher than in the past. Because of this support from the community, our retail sales have reached an all-time high. Contract services grew from a dream into a solid business endeavor in 1977. It has quadrupled in size and business volumne. Through used goods and contract services, we have not only been able to fund our vocational training school, and other rehabilitation programs, we have also become more self-sufficient. Eighty-six per cent of our operating requirements were self-generated in 1977. That figure is up from 66 per cent in 1976. We think this reduction in dependency on tax dollars is important in a time when more and more organizations are seeking increased federal funding.

Goodwill in Santa Clara County adopted a new slogan during 1977: "Creating new future for people with handicaps." With the support of the community, we will continue to do just that.

Thank you Santa Clara County.

J. C. Ainsley

A mover and shaker in the 'good old days' in Campbell

IN THE LATE 1880's John Colpetts Ainsley traveled to California and took a job in an orchard near Campbell. By 1898 he owned the huge cannery which was this area's main industry, was elected the first president of the Campbell Board of Trade and served on the Board of Directors of the Campbell Waterworks and the Bank of Campbell.

Last week the Campbell City Council renamed tiny Harrison Park, at the corner of Campbell ave. and Harrison, the J.C. Ainsley Park in his honor. Giving strong support to that move was the Country Woman's Club of Campbell and the city Civic Improvement and Parks and Recreation commissions.

By all accounts John Colpetts Ainsley (1862-1937) was a pillar of society. He not only served as this area's magnate, but earned the respect of the hundreds of employees who worked at Ainsley Packing Company over the years.

ACCORDING TO THE LATE Judge John D. Blaine, as a youth of 23 Ainsley developed the area's biggest business, was the first to supply a nurse, have a kindergarten, hot lunch for workers at low cost and opened his private tennis court to the public.

TAKING time out for a chat at Campbell's tiny Ainsley Park are Ron Stephens and Chris Elgart. Formerly known as Harrison Park, after its location, the park was recently renamed in honor of the late J.C. Ainsley, an industrialist and pillar of the community.

(Photography by Amy Huntoon)

"He was the most enterprising private factor in our community," Blaine commented.

When Ainsley died on August 23, 1937 at the age of 75 the local headlines read, "Stores Close Today During Ainsley Rites."

The tiny park which now bears his name was once part of the Ainsley cannery property. In fact, one of the buildings was located on that spot. With the north loop street construction completed, the acreage of the park has almost doubled and plans are underway now for incorporation that new land into the tree, bench and planter box respite nestled between the two loop streets, Campbell avenue and the railroad tracks in the heart of downtown Campbell.

THE LARGE cannery which was eventually known throughout the world started small. In 1887 Ainsley purchased 7 ½ acres of land and planted it in fruit trees. In 1890 he built a small cannery on that site (now part of Winchester boulevard) and in 1891, his first season, the output was 1,000 cases of canned fruit. The large cannery was built on Harrison at Campbell ave. in 1892.

Long before this area became a city the town business was taken care of by the Campbell Board of Trade, forerunner of the Chamber. of Commerce. Ainsley was elected its first president and reelected in 1899. His local affiliations were staggering. A few include the Campbell Improvement Club, Orchard City Grange, Santa Clara County Fruit Exchange and the Campbell Fruit Growers' Union. In 1919 he led the drive for allied relief in the Campbell area, and Ainsley also played an active part in organizing the Old Settler's Day celebrations.

"THE ORIOLE," Campbell High School yearbook of June, 1902 made mention of the cannery.

"Output is of the highest class, particular case being taken to have everything about the premises as clean as possible. 500 hands employed during busy season."

By 1929 that work force had grown.

According to T.A. Cutting's Historical Sketch of Campbell, "At the present time, J.C. Ainsley Packing Company has about 750 men on the payroll at the height of the season and puts out about 300,000 cases of canned fruit each year. Beside the development of an industry which has been the very life of the town, J.C. Ainsley has had a generous part in almost every move toward its improvement."

Today, the only remnants of that past era are the old Ainsley home at 112 N. Second st. and the little, red brick building which houses the Ainsley Corporation at 43 N. Harrison st.

And the new J.C. Ainsley

Candidates needed

Today marks the first day for filing nomination papers for the March 7 City Council election.

We hope there will be a field of candidates this time for voters to choose from. In the March 5, 1974 election the two incumbants ran unopposed.

In Campbell there is no problem with a lack of qualified candidates for the council seats.

We just hope there's no problem with a lack of interest.

Goodbye to the drab old days, Lib

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Newcomer appears on scene and could cause you some consternation. Deal with pinhead if you must, Ari, but do be circumspect. Week of whispering ends on a warm note.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Memories/dreams highlighted. You hear from one at a distance who has been in your thoughts. Bask in warmth of affection offered. Taurus, and week ends on key of B, for bundle. Ummm.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Past promises highlighted. Your credibility gap may be showing, Gem. Don't try to weasel out of commitment, or you wind up with naught but The Morning Times.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Emotions run rampant. What was lost can be found. But, Moonbaby, you must look in secret places. One who flirts outrageously is about as pure as the driven slush, so do be careful.

LEO (July 23,-August 22): Admirer may attempt to make contact. This little bird apt to be timid by nature, Leo, and easily frightened away. Just this once, Leo, play game quietly. Week ends on key of C, for change, charge and check.

VIRGO (August 23-September 22): Personal breakthrough highlighted. You can discover a truth, dear Virgo, which is not, however, to be confused with The Truth. Message clears.

LIBRA (September 23-October 22): New chapter about to begin. Say goodbye to the drab days, Lib, for soon your life will resemble a richly-textured tapestry. Complicated, colorful and intensely fascinating.

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21): Relationship which has been been casual could turn into something else. Affection can build. Consider existing ties, Scorp, before you behave in your usual rash, brash manner.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21): Action key word for week ahead. Tasks which have been postponed must now be done. You simply can't procrastinate forever. No loafing this week, dear Saj. Not even half a loaf. Sorry.

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 19): Pressures mount. Longstanding relationship may cool. So-o-o, simply adjust your Christmas list to omit this twit. Before week is over you hear from one at a distance, Cap, and your bruised ego bounces back. Goody.

AQUARIUS January 20-February 18): In demand socially, you want to leap from one affair to another. You finally understand, Aquari, that the principal business of life is to enjoy it.

PISCES (February 19-March 20): Study words to Aquari. Messages/calls highlighted. Forget "what might have been". Concentrate on today. Now. This minute! You may hear from old flame, Pisces, so keep fan handy. The possibilities are limitless. Whee!

Water recycling office gets chief

John E. Bryson, chairman of the State Water Resources Board, named Kurt Wassermann to head the new Office of Water Recycling which Governor Brown created last week. The office will accelerate waste-water reclamation and recycling activities, and will try to triple the use of reclaimed water statewide over the next five years.

Wasserman is a registered civil engineer with a Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Utah. The 44-year-old appointee first designed wastewater reclamation facilities in 1969 as part of his work on major portions of the South Eastern Sewage Treatment Plant for the City of Melbourne, Australia. He then moved to a firm of consulting sanitary engineers in San Francisco.

Wasserman has worked on a number of state projects over the past ten years.

National Guard incentives studied

The Assembly Committee on Governmental Organization is exploring incentive programs to stimulate enlistment in the State National Guard.

The committee is conducting hearings this week for legislative recommendations.

Chaired by Assemblyman Frank Vincencia, D-Paramount, the committee blames the end of the draft and improved benefits from the national armed services as reasons for the decline in National Guard personnel.

Survey on welfare

A $20,000 survey just completed for the state Department of Benefit Payments concluded that most Spanish speaking citizens usually resort to welfare "only in a crisis situation" as a last alternative.

The survey also had some hints for social workers. It said they should dress neatly and address the husband when dealing with Spanish-speaking households.

And an armadillo in a pear tree

Capitol News Service

It has been a long time since anyone has seen an armadillo on the loose in California, let alone finding one in a pear tree. Ask anyone. Ask John Edmondson.

Edmondson is a commissioner for the San Benito County Department of Agriculture, and he recently reported the presence of a nine-banded armadillo in his district. The armadillo was found burrowing away at the base of a pear tree. He says the animal, which is similar to South American anteaters, appeared to be alone. There were no other tracks around.

George Farnham of the California Department of Food and Agriculture confirmed that no record exists of other armadillo finds in California. The quiet, tame animals are sometimes kept as pets in Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Florida. Farnham says they can be found running wild in those states. (California considers them "exotic," and maintenance of one as a pet requires a special permit).

The armadillo was placed in a box overnight to await the arrival of Fish and Game officials.

"And, inexplicably, it died," Farnham said. "They haven't found out why, yet." He said the department deleted mention of the critter's death from its announcement because "it was kinda sad."

The creatures are a pest for farmers because their burrowing often damages or kills trees.

No surprises in the state test results for Campbell

By ROBIN HUTCHINS

Campbell Union High School District trustees recently reacted to district test scores which measured last year's seniors against other Californian seniors by saying the scores seem to reflect socio-economic differences.

Board chairman Ray Silva said the California Assessment Program test results for the district appear to be higher in schools in higher socio-economic areas than in schools where the students come from lower-income neighborhoods.

Silva made his remarks at the recent Board of Trustees meeting for the district where the trustees heard a presentation and analysis of the test scores.

The tests, he said, show "strong influence of the socio-economic status."

For example, Del Mar and Prospect high schools, schools in relatively affluent neighborhoods, tended to have higher scores than other schools in the district, he said.

According to the test results, the range in scores from individual schools was from a high of 95 percent in mathematics at Prospect to a low of 41 per cent in spelling at Westmont.

The test scores for the district show "no trends toward dropping," Dr. Wade Schroeder, director of Guidance, told the trustees.

Schroeder also said that district-wide scores show that Campbell Union High School District seniors answered more questions on the test correctly than was the statewide median.

The test — which he likened to a "report card for the district" — assessed learning in reading, written expression, spelling and math for last year's seniors.

The district seniors scored above the statewide median in each of the areas and were within the so-called comparison score band of all four areas, he said.

The comparison score band, a predictor based on similar districts in the state, showed that the district seniors were "well within" predictors devised by the state, he said.

The tests, Schroeder said, were "reassuring as far as the basic skills go."

According to the test results, the district-wide average reading score was 67 percent while the statewide median was 63.3 per cent. In the written expression category, the district average was 65.1 per cent while the statewide median was 61. The spelling median for the district was 69.7 per cent compared to the statewide median of 67.6 per cent and the math median for the district was 70.2 per cent compared to the statewide average of 65.5 per cent.

In other business, the trustees approved a resolution of intention to lease a room at Blackford High School to the county. If later approved, the room will be rented for $3,152 per year and will be used in conjunction with the Santa Clara County School's Department for the handicapped program.

nutrition notes / Oral contraceptives and the need for vitamins

By DOROTHY TERRILL

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dorothy Terrill, a registered dietitian and instructor at De Anza College, holds a M.S. in Nutrition from UC, Berkeley. Questions about nutrition are invited. Address all questions to: Dorothy Terrill, Nutrition Notes, Suburban Newspaper Publications Inc., P.O. Box 368, Cupertino, 95014. Mrs. Terrill will answer questions as space allows.

"IS IT true that since I use an oral contraceptive, I should take vitamins?" a reader writes.

This question is of frequent concern to young and middling women. It is true that oral contraceptives do have an effect on several vitamins. There is increased need for pyridoxine (vitamin B6,), folacin, Vitamin B 12, and Vitamin C. Pyridoxine is found in liver, meat, fish, poultry, dried beans, peanuts, nuts, bananas, avocados and whole grain breads and cereals, to name a few foods.

Folacin deficiency has been found in some users of oral contraceptives. Folacin, which is necessary to prevent a type of anemia, is found in leafy green vegetables, liver, asparagus, lima beans, whole grain cereals, nuts, and legumes.

Vitamin B12 seems to be used up at a faster rate when people are using oral contraceptives so there is an increased dietary need for it. Animal protein foods such as liver, meats, eggs, and milk provide Vitamin B 12, needed to prevent another type of anemia.

VITAMIN C is lower in the blood in women taking the estrogen drugs so a greater dietary intake is necessary. Vitamin C can be found in adequate amounts in citrus fruits and juices, potatoes, tomatoes, broccoli, and cabbage to name a few sources. An extra glass of orange juice each day should provide ample Vitamin C.

Vitamin A level in the blood is higher in users of these drugs. Therefore, there is no need to worry about increasing this vitamin when taking these medications.

The mineral iron is conserved by women who are on oral contraceptives. The largest loss of iron for women of child bearing age is in the menstrual flow. Since this is decreased in users of oral contraceptives, there is less loss of iron by the body. Women in this age group require 18 mg. of iron per day. The average American diet contains 6 mg. per 1000 calories so 18 mg. is difficult to obtain. Women on oral contraceptives need only worry less about sufficient iron but they shouldn't cut down on iron-rich foods.

While supplementation is possible for users of these drugs, it is possible to receive adequate amounts of these vitamins by eating a varied and nutritionally adequate diet. The diet should replace refined foods with whole grain breads and cereals, dried peas and beans, fresh vegetables and fruits, and adequate sources of complete protein — meats, milk, and eggs. Liver should not be overlooked as an excellent source of the folacin, pyridoxine, and Vitamin B12 needed. While it is true that liver is high in cholesterol, it is most likely not detrimental for women of child bearing age to eat liver once a week.

STRIVE FOR an adequate diet rather than supplementation with vitamin tablets. If a supplement is recommended, it should be of a low potency as too much of one vitamin may result in an imbalance of other nutrients in the body.

A correction for regular readers of this column. Two weeks ago a column was run about the use of pumpkin and pumpkin seeds. At that time I suggested that yogurt could be used in many recipes to replace part of the fat. The column was inadvertently printed to read: "an equal amount of yogurt can be substituted for the fat in many recipes for baked goods." If should read: "an equal amount of yogurt can be substituted for half the fat in many recipes for baked goods." If any reader tried it and had a disaster, our apologies.

Bid awarded on Camden high repair

Frank Surian and Sons has been awarded the contract to rebuild the Camden High School girl's gym facilities and one classroom on their low bid of $287,500.

Work is not expected to be completed until near the end of the school year in the spring of 1978.

Two arson fires at the local high school caused the destruction of the girl's showers and locker rooms and activity room and the gutting of a biology classroom.

The first fire occurred July 16 of this year and the second Oct. 17. The classroom was burned when a fire, set in a hall locker, burned through the wall.

Police have made no arrests in either case yet but the district is still offering a $500 reward for the arrest and conviction of the guilty party or parties.

With no shower room facilities the girls at Camden High School have been engaged in a "no sweat P.E. program," according to Assistant Superintendent Larry Liden. Two classrooms have been converted into locker rooms.

According to the terms of the contract awarded last week, construction must be completed in 150 days.

about more restaurants or bars that's one thing. But most of the retail stores have been having a rough go of it as it is and many of the shops in the (Hyde Cannery) had to close up and move on. I believe that parking is a must for that center. But it has to go hand in hand with encouraging more retail business.

Businessman

I, for one, didn't have any trouble understanding those new street signs at Campbell and Winchester. And I didn't once think "Winchester" meant the mystery house. They're much more attractive than the old street signs and they are 1,000 per cent easier to read, especially at night.

Happy Motorist

I really appreciated the story on the worker's suffering from asbestosis in your last issue. There are at least three workers living in Campbell who suffer from the disease. Maybe these stories will wake people up about what's going on so 20 years from now they won't be in the same boat we are.

Ailing Resident

So we're going to have another fast food restaurant in town. I think there should be a moritorium on opening new quick food restaurants. We're overloaded now. If the city lets any more in they should make them use one of those Herfy's restaurants which are closed up.

HONORED at the 61st annual installation of officers for Bethel 174, International Order of Jobs Daughters last Saturday were, from left, Debbie Clothier, senior princess; Beth Sargis, honored queen and Kara Gibford, junior princess. The ceremonies were held in the Masonic Temple in San Jose.

Almaden Expressway work up for bid again

COUNTY supervisors are trying again to receive favorable bids on two Almaden Valley road construction projects.

Supervisors will open bids Dec. 29 on a project to widen Almaden Expressway from four to six lanes. The project involves nearly 2,000 feet of roadway between Guadalupe Creek and just south of Blossom Hill Road.

Bids were opened and subsequently rejected two months ago when the two firms bidding submitted proposals in excess of engineering estimates. The project, using federal monies, is to be done by late March.

If undertaken, the county widening project would make all of the heavily-traveled expressway which runs much of the length of south San Jose six lanes. It has the distinction of being one of the most congested thoroughfares in the county.

ONE LOCAL man had a surprise for his birthday recently he isn't likely to forget, a birthday dinner at MacDonald's in a chauffered Rolls Royce. Dwain Ornduff and his wife, Dottie, and two sons, who live on Duvall drive, also hosted a party at the local restaurant.

First woman president

Campbell will have its first woman president of the Chamber of Commerce next year.

Jeanette Watson, chairman of the Civic Improvement Commission, was elected to head the local chamber at the annual planning retreat held recently in Asolimar. She takes office Jan. 1, 1978.

Also elected to office were Doug Mahre, treasurer, and Mike Kotowski, president elect.

Watson, who also serves as unofficial curator of the Campbell Historical Museum, is the second woman to be named to a top post on the Board of Directors. Last year she served as president elect. In the early 1960's Connie Russo was also on the Chamber board.

New officers, along with new members of the Board will take office on the first day of the new year but will be officially installed at the annual recognition banquet Jan. 27 at Sunsweet Hall in The Factory.

Watson has appointed four vice presidents to head chamber functions next year. They include: Alvin Jackson, Larry Dodson, Homer Hyde and Pete Edwards.

During 1978 the local chamber plans to work on a variety of community projects including the golf tournament, Prunes A Poppin' show in April, Fourth of July celebration, St. Patrick's Day parade, business seminar, career education seminars and other events.

Four sub-committees of the local group will also be meeting regularly next year. They are, economic development, community affairs, governmental affairs and membership development.

Birthday bash

A Rolls Royce and ..a Big Mac to go

Dwain Ornduff had an unusual surprise celebration for his 30th birthday recently. His friends were gathered for a "no host" dinner at MacDonalds on Winchester and he and his family arrived for the affair in an ice blue chauffered Rolls Royce. That celebration was the brainchild of his wife, Dottie.

The local man, an engineering technician, expected to be taken out to dinner that night by his family. But the Rolls, the Big Mac and the friends were a surprise.

In fact, Dwain was getting a little irritated at Dottie and his two sons that evening because they were taking an unusually long time getting ready to leave.

First one forgot something, then Dottie had to primp, then one took another trip to the bathroom and one son couldn't find his coat. Actually, the three were stalling for time until the chauffer was scheduled to arrive.

The local fast food restaurant cooperated in the surprise by reserving a spot for the Rolls and even had a large sign made up decorated with balloons when the Ornduff family arrived.

They ate in the car (the chauffer served) and then took a spin around the city before returning home where family and friends continued the party.

Section 5.29.240 Denial of permit. The chief of police may refuse to issue a permit if, after consideration of the application and any other papers, records and files he deems relevant, it is determined that the operation of Bingo game would be injurious to the health, safety and morals of the people of the City, or that the permit application or proposed mode of operation of the Bingo game is not in compliance with the provisions of this chapter.

(d) Detailed costs to the organization for the operation of the Bingo games.

Section 5.29.300 Permits and licenses non-transferrable. Permits and licenses granted under this chapter shall not be transferrable, either as to the license or the location. Any attempt to transfer shall render the permit and license in question invalid.

Section 5.29.310 Revocation, suspension of permit and license authorized.

ROBBERY FOILED

An attempted armed robbery of a local service station was foiled early Saturday morning when an observant Campbell police officer spotted one of the suspects approaching the business.

According to reports, Officer John Curtis was on routine patrol when he spotted one suspect approaching the station with a long object concealed beneath his clothing. He pulled over and watched as the suspect approached the station attendant seated inside the Shell service station office at 570 E. Hamilton ave.

The suspect attempted to enter the office and, when he found it was unlocked, pulled out a rifle and motioned for the attendant to unlock the door. The man refused and instead fled to an adjoining room.

The man apparently spotted the officer and ran to a waiting pick-up truck, driven by another man, and fled from the scene.

Curtis, and other units who responded for his call for assistance, surrounded the truck and took the two suspects into custody at gunpoint.

They were both booked into county jail on attempted armed robbery charges.

THEY HAVE HIS SIZE

The Pant Farm, 1840 S. Bascom ave. was reportedly robbed at gunpoint last Wednesday by a suspect brandishing a gun.

The man asked the clerk for assistance in picking out a pair of jeans and then reportedly pulled a gun when it was time to ring up the sale.

Police have a good description of the suspect including his pants size; 29 by 32 inches.

JEWELRY FOUND

A Whitwood lane resident turned in a supermarket bag filled with a large quantity of costume jewelry last Thursday to Campbell police.

The bag was found in her driveway.

ANGRY MOTORIST

A young man, apparently angry over the way a 65 year-old San Jose woman parked, reportedly smashed his fist through her windshield last Friday causing $100 in damages.

According to reports, the man approached the woman in the parking lot of a business complex on E. Hamilton ave. and told her she'd parked too close to his "expensive vehicle" before smashing in the windshield.

DRUGS STOLEN

Generic Pharmacy, 281 E. Hamilton ave. was reportedly broken into last Sunday. An unknown quantity of drugs were stolen.

1,600 FOOT THEFT

Bower Concrete Inc., reported wooden concrete forms valued at $2,000 stolen from property at Ecker court last Sunday.

Missing were 1,600 lineal foot of wood.

POSSIBLE CHILD ABUSE

Juvenile authorities will be looking into filing child abuse charges against a local woman who reportedly left her children in a parked vehicle near a local bar last week.

According to reports, officers found the four children, ranging in age from 4 to 11, asleep in the parked car shortly after 1 a.m. The woman said she didn't want to leave them home alone.

The youngsters were turned over to their grandfather.

Warriors, Braves lose

Del Mar opens season with win over Trojans

TO HEAR Dave Morgan tell it, his Del Mar Dons didn't play all that well last Tuesday night in their season opener against the Samuel Ayer Trojans. But he would have a tough time convincing the Trojans of that.

The Dons, beginning a new era following the graduation of center Mark McNamara, battled back from an early deficit to trounce the highly regarded Trojans 70-55 on the loser's court.

"I wasn't very impressed with the way that we played," said Morgan, in typical candor. "It was a good game from the standpoint that we won it. And we shot the ball pretty well. But I wasn't impressed. We have a lot of room for improvement."

Del Mar got off to a shakey start, committing seven turnovers in the first quarter, and trailed 18-14 heading into the second period of play.

But Sean Nalty's bucket off an assist by Jim Quilici with 3:05 to go in the first half put Del Mar in front for the first time on the night at 28-27. It was a lead the Dons would not relinquish.

By halftime the Dons had improved their lead to eight points, 37-29. Del Mar continued to widen the gap in the third quarter, improving its lead to 19 points, 56-37, by the start of the final period.

After a basket by Tom Bell raised the Dons' lead to 21 points in the opening moments of the fourth quarter, Ayer attempted to comeback. But 11 points was as close as the Trojans could get before a basket by Bell and a pair of free throws by Leon Roat iced the victory.

DEL MAR won the game with some strong shooting and an unexpectedly strong rebounding effort against a taller Trojan squad.

The Dons canned nearly 50 per cent of their field goal attempts on the night, sinking 29 of 60 shots. They were also 12 for 20 at the free throw line.

But the real key for Del Mar came on the boards, where the Dons grabbed 35 rebounds to Samuel Ayer's 37.

Forward Bruce Minor, who enjoyed an excellent all around game, led the Dons on the boards with 11 rebounds. Center Jim Quilici, before fouling out midway through the third period, and forward Roat both pulled down 10 caroms.

Minor, in addition to leading Del Mar in rebounds, spearheaded the Don offense with 20 points. The Del Mar forward drilled in his first seven shots of the night and wound up hitting on nine of 17 attempts for the game. He was two for three from the line.

Roat also had a big night, meshing 11 points to go with his 10 rebounds, five assists and three steals.

Guards Nalty and David Davis both pumped in 14 points, to give the Dons four players in double figures. Nalty was seven of 15 from the floor with three assists and three steals. Davis was six for nine in field goal attempts and dished out five assists.

Quilici had seven points and reserve center Bell chipped in with four, hitting his only two shots of the game, to round out the Del Mar scoring.

The Dons suffered a 55-50 loss to St. Francis in their next outing two nights later. Del Mar took a 39-35 lead into the final period only to succumb to a St. Francis rally.

St. Francis' Chris Hawkins decided the outcome of the game by sinking six free throws in the final minute of play.

Quilici led the Dons with 17 points while Roat canned 13 and Nalty added 10. Minor and Davis contributed six and four points, respectively.

DEL MAR bounced back the following night to nip Fremont 50-49 in their home opener. The Dons trailed 42-39 heading into the final period but rallied for the victory.

Nalty sparked the triumph with a career high 28 points, pouring in 14 shots from the floor.

David and Quilici both tossed in seven points, Roat canned six and Minor added a pair.

In other action involving West Valley Ahtletic League teams, both Blackford and Westmont opened their seasons on losing notes last Friday night. The braves went down to a 65-52 defeat at the hands of the Peterson Pirates while the Warriors were blitzed 60-39 by the James Lick Comets.

Tim Stanton drilled in 20 points for Blackford to capture high game honors. Guy Gandenberger chipped in with nine points and John Rossi hooped eight.

Lick ripped the Warriors 24-6 in the opening period of their game and then coasted the rest of the way to victory.

Larry Walz was the only Warrior in double figures, finishing the game with 10 points.

Blackford dropped its second contest a night later when the Braves were thumped by Willow Glen 59-46.

Stanton had another big night in a losing cause, meshing 23 points. Rossi added 11.

Ambriz, Fredenburg cop 2nds for Vike mat team

RUDY AMBRIZ and Mike Fredenburg each finished second to lead the West Valley College wrestling team to an eighth place finish at the rugged Southwestern Tournament in Chula Vista last weekend.

Ambriz won three of four matches to claim second at 118 pounds for the Vikings and Fredenburg (Campbell) won four of five bouts to finish the runner-up at 142 pounds.

"We had hoped for a higher finish, but we were in some pretty tough competition," said Viking mat coach Jim Root of the Southern California tourney.

Palomar won the tournament with Cerritos second, Moorpark third, El Camino fourth, Grossmont fifth, Rio Honda sixth and Mt. Sac seventh. West Valley finished eighth behind the seven SoCal schools.

Ambriz won three straight bouts before losing to last year's state second placer 10-3 in the 118 pound finals.

Fredenburg was a winner four times before dropping a very close 12-10 decision in a "helluva match," according to Root.

GAYLORD LANE (Camden) won three of his five matches in the tournament at 177 pounds and Mark Lane (Camden) at 167 and Dan Browning (Prospect) at heavy weight were each 2-2. Steve Cunningham (Camden) was 2-1 at 158 pounds and Rodney Hartrum won a match at 150.

Hartrum, M. Lane and Jordan Gill (Del Mar) were each decision winners for West Valley and Ambriz and Browning each were forfeit winners. G. Lane drew 6-6 with his 190 pound foe.

Panthers should be serious contenders

THE PROSPECT Panthers finished dead last in the West Valley Athletic League last year, winning only one game in 14 starts.

Put despite last year's miserable performance, the Prospect Panthers are being rated as a play-off contender this year by most of the league's coaches.

"They should be very tough this year," predicted Del Mar head coach Dave Morgan.

Los Gatos mentor Jim Johnson, meanwhile, picks Prospect along with Del Mar and Leigh to be the WVAL's toughest teams.

"We should be greatly improved," said Prospect head coach Bert Robinson, who is entering his ninth year as the Panthers' head coach. "We have good height and some experience but we're lacking in depth."

Center Nick Seroff, a 6'7" transfer from Samuel Ayer high school, is the main reason why the Panthers are being tabbed as a title contender.

Seroff was an all-league performer for the Trojans last year, leading them in both scoring and rebounding. A senior, Seroff could turn out to be the WVAL's most dominant figure in 1977-78.

Joining Seroff along the front line will be returning starters Stan Kazmierczak (6'4") and Paul Guenther (6'5"). Combined, the trio makes up the league's tallest front line.

A key to the Panthers' success this season will be the play of their guards. Bret Guenther, Phil Angerole, Tim Fleury and Rich Nelson are currently battling for starting berths. It will be up to them to get the ball into Prospect's big men.

Both Angerole and Fleury played frosh-soph ball last year.

WHILE THE Panthers will be shooting for their first ever WVAL championship in 1978, the Del Mar Dons will be attempting to annex their third straight crown.

The Dons, however, will be without the services of towering center Mark McNamara, who graduated.

Del Mar, in fact, has only one returning starter, guard Sean Nalty.

"We will be small, slow and not so good," said Morgan.

But few coaches around the WVAL are buying Morgan's words. The Dons, as always, are expected to be prime contenders for the league championship.

Nalty should be one of the WVAL's top guards this year, capable of scoring 20 points a game.

Other key members for the Dons are forwards Bruce Minor (6'3") and Leon Roat (6'), center Jim Quilici (6'5") and guard David Davis (5'10").

The Campbell Buccaneers, like the Prospect Panthers, will be trying to turn it around after a lackluster season in 1977.

The Bucs were 4-10 last year but could develop into a play-off contender this year.

"We have speed, quickness and aggressiveness," said Campbell boss Jim Williams. "But we lack size and experience."

The Bucs' only returning letterman is 5'11" guard Don Ruby.

Campbell, therefore, will have to depend on several untested players.

Battling for the center position are Ted Herd (6'3"), Bernie Glasauer and Kevin Bradley (6'2"). Herd was an all-league center on the frosh-soph level last year.

Fighting for forward berths are Fred Heidler (6'1"), Eric Harris (6') and Mark Ortiz. Heidler was also an all-league frosh-soph player.

Gary Hemminger, a 6' senior, will join Ruby in the backcourt.

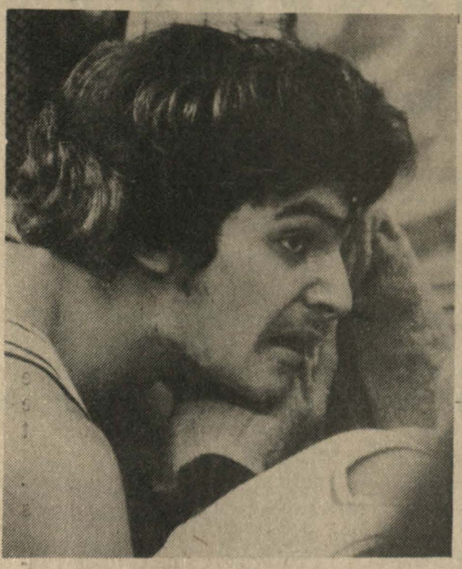
A contingent of six returning lettermen makes Los Gatos a strong candidate for post-season action this year in the WVAL.

Back from last year's varsity squad are Jeff Knott (6'3"), Dave Langlois (6'2"), Dan Vaughan (6'2"), Pete Denevi (6'2"), Tom James (5'11") and Ken Olivet (5'8").

Head coach Jim Johnson, in his 10th year at LG, lists quickness and aggressiveness as his team's strengths while board strength and experience as its weaknesses.

Greg Kolte, a 6'4" junior who played on the frosh-soph last year, will be a key figure at center for the Wildcats this year.

Starting at forwards will be Vaughan and Knott while Denevi and James are slated to hold down the guard spots.



TRANSFER — Nick Seroff will lead Prospect into action on the basketball court this season. Seroff is a 6'7" transfer from Ayer and could turn the Panthers into a title contender.

THERE'S AN old saying that goes, "It's not whether you win or lose, it's how you play the game!"

Well, the West Valley College football team wasn't doing much winning this past season. In fact, the Vikings weren't able to pick up a single victory in Golden Gate Conference play in 1977, finishing 0-8 in the league and 1-9 overall.

But winning or losing didn't affect a few Vikings in post-season all-conference polling — it was how they played the game that won them all-GGC recognition in 1977!

Vic Druhan (Leigh) and Steve Kingsburg (Saratoga) led a list of five Vikings picked to the all-GGC log this past season for West Valley.

Druhan won a first team spot in the defensive backfield for West Valley after a fine sophomore season. Druhan, a top notch offensive back during his prep days at Leigh, was the lone Viking on the first team.

Kingsbury picked up a second team berth at offensive guard on the Golden Gate dream team. The sophomore lineman won a spot on the team even though an injury had him on the sidelines much of the year.

Jeff Kahn (Mitty), Tracy Wilson (Branham) and Steve Cusella (Camden) were each tabbed to the all-conference honorable mention list. Tight end Kahn, also a top notch punter for the Vikes, running back Wilson, who gained 547 yards this season and finished his junior college career with more than 1,000 yards, and defensive back Cusella were all sophomores this past season.

St. Lucy's runner tops 1,000

MARK Vincenzini of St. Lucy's junior high school in Campbell recently accomplished an amazing feat by rushing for 1,009 yards this past season.

Vincenzini, who was a runningback on offense and a cornerback on defense, gained his 1,009 yards in nine games and scored 13 touchdowns.

On defense, the 13 year old eighth grader made eight interceptions.

St. Lucy's finished the season with a 5-3 record.

Vikes win all-loop honors

"WE COULDN'T have done it without her," said West Valley College women's volleyball coach Claudine Simpson. "She was necessary for us to finish in second place."

Those words of post-season praise by Simpson were aimed at Viking standout Pam Goldsborough (Willow Glen) after she had been named to the all-Women's intercollegiate Volleyball League first team recently.

The sophomore, also named her team's most valuable player and co-captain, was one of three Vikings selected to the all-league team.

Diane Rodrigues (Camden) and Cindy Meyer (Camden) each picked up second team spots on the all-league squad. Rodriguez, the only other sophomore on the Viking squad, was also named the other Vike co-captain this fall.

The three helped West Valley to a second place finish in league play with a 10-4 record. The Vikings were 14-8 overall on the year.

Goldsborough was the leader all year for the Vikings despite suffering a hand injury midway through the season.

"She's a real competitor," said Simpson. "She's a fine athlete with the mind of a competitor. She has the ability to see when others make mistakes and fill in the hole."

The sophomore won the top team award as the Viking MVP. Freshman Margo Fitzpatrick (Campbell) was voted the West Valley most improved player.

Miller still fighting strong for West Valley fencers

"DIFFERENT members of the team put it together at different times," said West Valley College fencing coach Alice Parsons after her men's and women's teams each dropped two of three bouts over the weekend.

The Viking men knocked off Napa but fell to Monterey and Merritt and the same weekend the West Valley women whipped Monterey but fell to both Merritt and Napa.

David Oberhoffer won twice and Bob Costick and Tom Flynn won a bout each to lead the Vikings to a win over Napa.

Flynn won twice and Costick and Oberhoffer won a bout each in the loss to Monterey and Costick won three bouts and Flynn one in the loss to Merritt.

"We just couldn't get together," added Parsons after the competition.

Leslie Miller won three bouts and Sandie Fairbrother won two in the women's victory over Monterey. Miller won seven of the eight bouts she fenced on the weekend.

Costick won three bouts but West Valley lost to the Stanford junior varsity two days earlier. The women split their bouts with Stanford.

SP subsidy

Rail riders to get a boost

SANTA Clara County is getting into the railroad ticket agent business in hopes of boosting Southern Pacific commuter ridership between San Jose and San Francisco.

County supervisors recently approved a test program subsidy of about $1.25 million over the next two years which will result in a reduction of monthly commute ticket rates from $50 to $35 soon. Some of money is otherwise-unused state-federal transportation funds.

The county will buy the commute tickets from the railroad at full price and sell them to commuters at the reduced rates. The supervisors' action negates a 25 per cent boost in fares by the railroad last summer, an action some felt cut ridership.

Commute service levels are not expected to change although supervisors expect greater ridership could result in improvements. The board hopes the rail line can be kept operational and SP will ultimately change its mind about abandonment of the service.

Supervisors also are hoping SP service can be extended south to other parts of Santa Clara County besides the prevalent north and central areas. About half of this county's ridership on the commute run is from northern areas.

About 3,300 people daily use the commute run. SP has asked the state Public Utilities Commission and federal Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to abandon the Peninsula run which it says loses $10 million a year.

Transportation officials estimate 41 per cent of the commuters on the Peninsula SP route are from Santa Clara County.
